

Whitetail Clover Spring Green-up 4/21/13

[print_link]

The Imperial Whitetail Clover is beginning to green up in western NY State. The deer are beginning to browse the clover and add some quality protein to their diet. So far we have photographed as many as four deer at one time in this plot. The Fall 2012 brassica, turnip and radish plot in the foreground has completely disintegrated over the winter. This is a late spring even for western NY in 2013.
